

Dear partner,

This year, the Université de Lorraine is offering a bootcamp open to all students from our partner universities. It's a two-week program in English, combining an educational program with cultural activities and discoveries of the region and Paris. The price of €1,500 includes everything (tuition, accommodation, meals - including in fine restaurants to discover French gastronomy - and activities) except transportation to Nancy. Full details and a descriptive booklet are available at: <https://frenchbootcamp2024.event.univ-lorraine.fr/>

Please distribute this information as widely as possible to your students - there are only 4 weeks left to register!

Thank you very much.
